PERSONAL ITEMS.

What People are Doing In and Out of Roanoke.

Mrs. J. R. Hockaday, accompanied by Miss Neva St. Clare Crutchfield, of Richmond, arrived in the city last night. Mrs. Hockaday has been on an extended visit to relatives in Richmond.

The Columbia Land Company and the Monitor Steam Manufacturing Company have secured the assistance of J. W. Coon, president of the Commercial National Bank, and Senator Bibb. The entire enterprise is now nearly complete in its subscription.

Dr. Fuqua, of Chambersburg, Bedford county, is in the city visiting friends.

Joseph Standfield, colored, was arrested by Officer Geo last night for drawing a knife on a gentleman in company with Mr. Oppenheim, the saloonist. Joseph is employed by a real estate firm and has been in jail before.

Mr. E. E. Hooker, one of Knoxville's representative citizens, was in the city yesterday on business. This is his first visit to the "Magic City" and he is more than delighted with it. Mr. Hooker took a few quiet pointers on real estate while in town.

Officer Gus Gee was made happy yesterday by the arrival of his wife from Keyesville, Charlotte county. The genial copper's smile is, in consequence, about as large as the load of hay on which it is alleged he rode into town.

Officer Creevy is on the sick list. His brother died recently in Texas, and he will have to go there to settle his estate.

B. K. Michael, lately with the Roanoke Machine Works, has assumed charge of the Roanoke branch of Harker & Dunn's tile and mantle house, with an office in THE TIMES building.

MAYOR'S COURT.

Mayor Evans attended to the wants of a goodly number of morally diseased persons at his court yesterday morning, and prescribed for them as follows:

George Harris, disorderly conduct and resisting an officer, was fined $5 for his misbehavior, and cautioned against resisting an officer in the future.

John Johnson, the negro boy who stole a watch at Silverthorn's Saturday night, was sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment for carrying a razor, and was sent to the grand jury for his attempt to supply himself to the unlimited time.

Joseph Eggleston, for being drunk and shooting at his mother, was fined $5. The testimony showed that he had no intent to hit his parent when he fired at her.

Michael was drunk and down on Railroad avenue Sunday night, and paid $5 for the luxury.

J. M. Dorothy spent the early part of Sunday in getting drunk and the latter part of the same day in getting sober at the station-house. Between the two the tax was $5.

William Miles, committing a nuisance, $5. A charge of carrying a razor was dismissed, it being shown that the instrument was boxed up and not prepared for the African upper-cut.

R. A. Swann was arrested for being drunk and disorderly Sunday. He was ashamed to face Mayor Evans in the court, and so chose to forfeit his collateral, $3.

Alvin Stonewall was drunk on Bunker Hill Saturday night, and the fine and costs in the case amounted to $5.50.

A Bad Watch Trade.

John Smith, a hard-working, but illiterate white man, who has a mania for trading watches, was arrested Saturday night, charged with having stolen a watch.

John was on the streets Saturday night trying to trade his watch, as usual, and soon drove a good bargain.

The watch was soon claimed by Mr. C. W. Powell, from whom it had been stolen some time before. John was arrested and remained in the station until yesterday morning, when he was given a hearing before Judge Howerton and dismissed.

The watch was turned over to Mr. Powell.

A Switchman Mangled.

Charles Otey, a white switchman in the employ of the Norfolk and Western, met with a very serious injury yesterday, while doing some switching in the Machine Works yard.

He was standing on the step of a switch engine and carelessly let himself become caught between the engine and a lumbercar. Both legs were broken and the right leg terribly mangled and amputation will be necessary below the knee.

He is twenty-five years of age and married, with wife and three children residing in Bedford.

Officer Weedon's Complex Capture.

James Craig was arrested by Officer Weedon yesterday on a warrant charging him with disorderly conduct. While conveying his prisoner to the lock-up the officer came upon a party of negroes shooting crap on the street. Retaining his hold on Craig, Weedon gallantly arrested the "bones" used by the dandies, and the stake, amounting to 35 cents, which he conveyed to the station-house. The players possessed legs, which the dies and money did not, and so escaped.

A Family in Distress.

Mrs. Margaret Hicks came to Roanoke yesterday on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Charles Burns, bringing with her her three small children. Her sister had moved away, and as she was in destitute circumstances Mayor Evans had her cared for at the expense of the city. She will be sent back to Wheeling, whence she came, if during the day she can not discover the whereabouts of her sister.

Salem Agitated.

Salem is all torn up through an investigation by the grand jury of wholesale liquor selling in violation of the law. About a hundred witnesses were before that august body yesterday, and a number of indictments will be handed down shortly.

THE GYPSY BARON.

About the Opera for To-night—How Conried Manages.

Conried's Comic Opera Company will present "The Gypsy Baron," Johann Strauss' masterpiece, at the Opera House this evening.

This opera ran nearly a year without interruption at the Casino, in New York, and its success in other cities has been unprecedented in the history of lyric productions.

The company numbers sixty talented vocalists who have given general satisfaction throughout the country. Among the principals are Miss Bettina Padel, daughter of General Albert Ordway, formerly of Richmond, and Edward S. Grant, who is well-known in that city.

Heinrich Conried, proprietor and manager of Conried's Comic Opera Company, is a prominent figure in the operatic circles of this country. He makes his own contracts, selects and trains his singers, manages the stage, attends every rehearsal, whether of chorus, orchestra or principals; buys the material for all the costumes, and designs the scenery.

This is the American idea of theater management, and is about four men's work, but Mr. Conried does it all and has time to spare. Besides, he attends every performance and takes account of every delinquency on the part of the singers.

One of his great exploits was to go on as a super when he produced "Julius Caesar" in German in New York. He was four times called before the curtain after the fourth scene.

Not many American managers could do that.

ALMOST A BOY RIOT.

White Boys and Negroes Engage in a Combat.

There came near being a boy riot at the corner of Roanoke and Church streets yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

About half a dozen white boys from 8 to 12 years of age, and nearly as many negro boys of about the same age got into a row.

For a short time brickbats, rocks, and sticks whistled thickly through the air from both sides. Several ladies were passing at the time, and some of them narrowly escaped being hit.

THE TIMES man started to cross the street about the time the battle began, but when several missiles whistled near him, he decided to wait for peace.

One negro boy was surrounded and thrown down, but soon recovered his feet and made a safe escape. Another negro boy was hit on the hand by one of the flying missiles but no serious injury was done.

But for the interference of several ladies and gentlemen living in that vicinity there might have been further trouble.

The negroes retreated as soon as the noise of the battle ceased, and the white boys escaped the eyes of the police.

THE ROANOKE & SOUTHERN.

Work Begins on the Bridge That is to Span the River.

The shoveling of dirt on the Roanoke and Southern goes bravely on.

The several forces along the line, as already reported in THE TIMES, were considerably increased yesterday.

The work was commenced yesterday morning on the stone work of the bridge that is to be constructed across Roanoke river. This work is to be pushed forward rapidly, and as soon as the bridge is completed it is expected to have the line through the city ready for construction trains.

Ella Garrichte's Good Luck.

Ella Garrichte, the woman who sent a note to a prominent undertaker last week notifying him of her intended suicide, and who was prevented from carrying her rash threat into execution by the timely interference of a TIMES reporter and Officer Talley, has fallen heir to a fortune of $1,500 through the sale of a piece of property at Norwood, Nelson county, this State.

Her decision to suicide has been indefinitely postponed.

Reception to Mr. and Mrs. Pole.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Greider will give a reception this evening at 8 o'clock at their residence, No. 26 Ninth avenue s. w., in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur S. Pole.

Mr. and Mrs. Pole will arrive to-day from an extended bridal tour, and the occasion will be one of the social events of the week.

Buena Vista's Sale.

Excursion trains over the Shenandoah Valley railroad to Buena Vista's great lot sale will leave Roanoke Wednesday and Thursday mornings, returning the same day. Complimentary tickets will be issued through Roanoke real estate agents and the company's agent, who will be in charge of the train.

A handsome upright piano, 7 1/2 octaves, full metal frame, with plush stool and cover, for $250 cash or $275 on easy payments is one of the many bargains the Hobbie Music Co., Lynchburg, Va., offer you. They also have a fine line of Knabe and Krnich & Bach pianos. Call and examine their stock.

Notice.

There will be a meeting of the members of the City Bar at the courthouse to-night at 8 o'clock, to take suitable action with reference to the death of Mr. C. R. Luck.
